ENTREPRENEURS AND START-UPS

Entrepreneurs and start-up ventures have unique challenges.

On one hand, budgets can be tight when developing a new product or service and bringing it to market. On the other hand, in order to instill confidence in early stage partners, employees, clients, and investors, the business must present itself in a professional way.

Impress Collaborate Grow

Additionally, a new venture can benefit from a collaborative environment, in which new business owners and managers can network with seasoned professionals who are experts in their fields.

Northbrook Office Rentals, LLC provides amazing opportunities for early stage companies to reside and grow in a top-tier, yet remarkably affordable, office environment.

With a full list of amenities (see inside flap of brochure) that will exceed expectations, NOR provides the perfect space and services in which your start-up venture can grow.

PROFESSIONALS IN HOME OFFICES

It may seem as if there are many advantages to working from home, including no commute and the freedom to work any time, day or night.

However, working exclusively from a home office has some drawbacks. It can be difficult to focus at home, and one may become insulated from the outside world. It is often not appropriate, or practical, to meet with clients at one's residence. And, meeting at the noisy, local coffee shop turns a simple 1 hour meeting into an entire morning or afternoon of getting to and from a meeting.

NOR is an affordable option as a satellite location for meetings and for focused, uninterrupted work.

Northbrook Office Rentals, LLC is an affordable option to either completely move from a home office, or to use as a satellite location for meetings and for focused, uninterrupted work.

In addition to the many amenities not found in one's home (see inside flap of brochure), fellow tenants are accomplished professionals that will become valuable resources and networking partners, as well as sources of leads. All of which cannot be found in a home-based office.
